

The Anatomy of the Connected Building

Today, demand for connected buildings is growing exponentially. It's so important to digital transformation that more than 60% of enterprises say that IoT is playing a key role in their overall business strategy. That's where Black Box comes in.

From the ground floor up, we deploy the foundational technology that enables a digital experience in the connected building including: structured cabling, network and wireless solutions, and IoT device deployments.

SMART LIGHTING

Reduce power consumption with one of the biggest trends in building technology.

WAYFINDING

Bluetooth-enabled beacons and sensors help people navigate the building and find open conference rooms.

UTILIZATION SENSORS

Manage spaces and people with sensors that monitor occupancy, hand washing compliance, body temperatures, and more.

SECURITY/ACCESS CONTROL

Ensure safety and security with badge readers, IoT sensors, PoE cameras, and more.

STRUCTURED CABLING

The right infrastructure will support users, IoT, and PoE devices for years to come.

WIRELESS CONNECTIVITY

Count on our expertise in DAS, Wi-Fi, CBRS, and small cells for wireless that supports users and IoT.

SMART SERVICE

Smart signage, kiosks, price checks, and other sensors can enable fast, safe, contactless check-outs.

THERMAL SENSING CAMERAS

Identify people with elevated skin temperatures and ensure safe social distancing.

PREDICTIVE MAINTENANCE

Sensors alert you when there is a failure or maintenance is needed.

INTELLIGENT PARKING

Connected building technology shines with PoE cameras, sensors, and access points.

Delivery Options

With more than 45 years in IT technologies and a footprint that spans 120 countries, we have all the design, deploy, and managed services needed for your digital transformation.

Professional Services

Assess, Consult, Project Management

Field Services

On Site, Staging, Installation, Deployment

Support Services

Monitoring, Remote Support, Vendor Escalation

Managed Services

XaaS, Custom Services, Large Scale
